Question:

If this is applied into the ground at base of trees will it kill the trees? I have several trees that need to be killed

Answer:

As indicated in the label, this is for use with vegetation/weeds, won't be useful for killing trees which need a higher concentration of Imazapyr

I purchased Ortho GroundClear Vegetation Killer Concentrate a couple years ago in January 2019. I finally got around to using it this in June 2021. I wasn't sure how well it was going to work since it's been sitting in my garage for so long. I followed the directions on the package and diluted it with water. I then proceeded to spray it on all the weeds & vegetation in my yard that I wanted to eliminate. The next day after spraying, all the weeds were still green and perky. Two days later, still not changes. A week later, still no changes. At this point, I was thinking I would have to get something else to kill these weeds. However, by the end of the second week, everything I sprayed this stuff on began to die. A month later, all those pesty weeds were shriveled up and dead. I am pleased with the final results and would buy this product again in the future.

★★★★★ Better Than Weed&Grass Killer

Reviewed in the United States us on August 7, 2014

MUCH better than normal wees+grass killer concentrates. Over the past decade, I've been growing more and more dissatisfied with the Weed&Grass Killer products (all brands: Spectracide, Ortho, et al). Each year I buy them, even though they're advertised as "New! Improved! Stronger Concentrate!" the instructions have required you to use higher and higher settings of concentrate to get the same result as the previous year. So, yeah, they're ripping people off and thinking no one will notice.

So, I run across this "Vegetation Killer" from various brands and decided to try two brands (this review will also appear under the Spectracide-brand concentrate I purchased and tried because they worked the same). They work MUCH better. They are more difficult to apply in that you should use a tank sprayer, and not a hose-end sprayer. BUT, it has now been two months since first application and the areas I sprayed are still grass and weed free.

This stuff is much less expensive than Weed&Grass Killers and works for a MUCH longer period of time. I put Weed&Grass killer on my gravel drive three weeks AFTER putting this stuff down around the edges of I've used this product every spring for several years and it's always done a great job clearing my crushed bluestone driveway of grass and weeds. This year, it worked within hours as the label said - it used to take a few days for the greenery to start dying down.

But I'm disappointed to find that after only a few weeks, the stuff is growing back again and I'll have to do another application. In the past it's been once and done until the following year. I'll look for a different brand next year.

★★★★★ Better than Round-Up Spray

Reviewed in the United States us on August 20, 2013

Verified Purchase

Used a full gallon of Round-Up to cover a large area and a week later MOST of it had barely turned brown but there was still a lot of green around. Used this with a gallon of water in the same sprayer and re-sprayed the still-green areas and sprayed a new area as well that hadn't been treated yet.

Ortho's product is already showing significant results 2 days later where the Round-Up took 4-5 days to show any results other than a little withering. The plants sprayed by Ortho's are already turning brown. The area treated by Round-Up also still has solid roots - they are harder to pull and impossible to just rake out of the ground (most of them are growing between bricks on a walkway) where the Ortho treated area's vegetation is already very easy to pull without resistance. Killing the root system means the plants won't grow back any time soon - so this is a really big deal.

I recommend this over Round-Up any day.

★★★★★ They gone!

Reviewed in the United States us on March 19, 2014

So...I have always had bad luck with the pre-diluted weed killers and even some of the 50% diluted stuff you get from the big box stores. Fortunately, I pulled the trigger on this along with some diy supplies such as the sprayer and even some pest control concentrates. I must say, within 2 hours of application, I could see the wilting take effect and the weeds grasping for life. The next day, they were all hung in shame and wilting with a little brown showing. Today, day 3, I was able to rake them all from the desert landscaping (arizona) we have with no effort at all. Happy customer and will be buying the 1 gal size of the same solution to help the neighbors out. Thanks Ortho!

GROUND CLEAR®

VEGETATION KILLER

KILLS & PREVENTS WEEDS FOR UP TO

1 YEAR

Take control of your weeds

Ortho GroundClear Vegetation Killer kills and prevents unwanted weeds and grasses for up to 1 year as it kills to the root. One application of the fast-acting, dual-action formula will kill weeds in driveways, sidewalks, fence lines, patios, pavers, and other areas where no vegetation is desired for up to 1 year. Apply Ortho GroundClear Vegetation Killer, and you can start to see visible results in 6 hours.

Choose from 3 convenient application options including: Ready-to-Use Wand and Refill, Concentrates or Ready-to-Use Sprinkler Cap.

Read product labels for full product instructions.

Ready-To-Use with Comfort Wand

Great for spot-treatment areas. No mixing required with this Ready-To-Use option and comes with the Comfort Wand for precise control and maximum accuracy. You can also purchase a refill bottle to use with your existing wand.

Concentrates

Maximize your coverage area with every bottle. To use the concentrate, you will need to apply with an Ortho Dial N Spray, sprinkler can or tank sprayer. Available in multiple sizes.

Ready-To-Use with Sprinkler Cap

Perfect for cracks and crevices. The Ready-To-Use sprinkler cap is easy to use, and no mixing is required. Just remove top cap and tilt bottle slightly to adjust product flow. Sprinkle on area you want to treat.

Customer questions & answers

- Question: How many ounces of this concentrate is suggested to add to 1 gallon of water? All 32 ounces? That doesn't seem like a "concentrate" to me.
- Answer: Try with less water
By Sylvia on July 22, 2021
- Question: Can the ortho dial n spray be used to broadcast groundclear concentrate over a large weeded area?
- Answer: As long as the ratio of water to chemical is correct should not be a problem. If treating taller foliage may need to treat separately from low growth. Be careful not to over spray. The chemical kills what it touches!
By Susan Engle on July 22, 2021
See more answers \(1\)
- Question: How long before pets can go in the area?
- Answer: We usually wait 2 - 3 hours to make sure the spray dries before letting our pets outside.
By L. Lopez on June 21, 2019
- Question: How much of the 32 oz. refill conc. do I use for the one gallon spray?
- Answer: I'd return the 'ground clear'. Everything I sprayed is still alive and growing...and I used the concentrate over 10 days ago. Your suppose to use 3 whole cups of it per 1 gallon. I'd return it if I were you.

★★★★☆ Great to keep weeds in control but many plants are very sensitive to it

Reviewed in the United States on September 12, 2020

I like it helps to keep weeds in control on my driveway, sidewalk curbs. But some plants are very sensitive to it like pine trees, edge bushes. So I don't spray near to them like 2ft away.

While easy to use especially if you have the battery powered spray wand. It doesn't kill the big vegetation in six hours as indicated. For so.e weeds a second application is required.

★★★★☆ Great Value but Slow to Kill Vegetation

Reviewed in the United States us on June 22, 2019

For the money, this is a good product but like I said, a bit slow to work. Now whether or not it works for a full year is something I'll have to wait to find out.

★★★★☆ Needs several applications for the weeds we have.

Reviewed in the United States us on February 7, 2023

I believe this product may be weaker or different than that we get at Home Depot or even WalMart. Had to apply several times before we saw the weeds die. We have a huge yard, so this makes it very expensive.

I had thousands of baby weeds pop up in my yard a few weeks ago. I sprayed Ground Clear and now I don't have any, and if it works the way it usually does I won't have to worry about weeds for the next six to nine months.
